Decorating Contest Brings 'New Look' To Knight Campus

By Ruth Lechner

With 11 organizations vying for the "New Look" offered as first prize in this year's Christmas decorating contest, the Wartburg campus is taking on a new look during the festive season. Following are the groups which are participating:

Business, Mission, Fellowship, Wartburg Players, Chi Rho, Music Appreciation club, Grossmann choir, Wartburg hall, Kappa house, Coffin house, freshman class and sophomore class. The decorations will concentrate on decorating their own dwellings, while independent societies will attempt to decorate various parts of the campus.

Stress will be laid on unusual locations of the displays, such as the fireplace, the entrance to Knights gym and the new scathing room. Other spots already chosen are the entrance to Wartburg and Grossmann hall.

Already the college has sponsored a set of two displays with one more under construction. Old Main is covered with lights which form a large Christmas tree on the face of the building. An evergreen behind Luther hall has been strung with colorful lights, and a manger scene is being built in front of the Kone Ee building.

Lu Sticker, chairman of the decorations committee, stated that entries are not yet closed and the group may still enter if it files before 8 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 9. Judging will take place before 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 10. The first prize of $25 will be distributed to the first, second and third place winners.

Dec. 19 Caroling Date

All organizations planning to make caroling excursions this Christmas season are asked to file requests with the Wartburg office by Monday, Dec. 19. The request was released this week by the faculty-student activities committee. Refreshments will be served to all caroling groups from 8 to 10 p.m. in the cafeteria.

Wednesday Program To Feature Roy Glahn

Appearing in a varied recital next Wednesday, Dec. 12, at 8:30 p.m. in the Little Theater will be tenor Roy Glahn, artist teacher in voice here.

Singing classical and semi-classical selections, as well as modern works and folk songs, Glahn will be accompanied by Miss Ruth Preusser, Wartburg piano teacher.

Opening the program will be Verdi's "La Pasion" in surprise," followed by Ben Jonson's "So Sweete is Shee" taken from an Old English song. Next will be "Il mio tesoro intanto," an aria from "Don Giovanni" by Mozart. Glahn will continue with five songs from Robert Schumann's "Eichenlaub," followed by a number of modern works. Among them will be "The Quartette" by Don Thomas Symons, "An Irish Song" by John G. Barry, "The Love Song" by E. J. Atkinson and scored by Gerard Williams, and a "Drinking Song" by Ross Flinn.

Third portion of the program will feature semi-classical selections, such as "Serenade" by Maurice Strakosky, "Le tom blanché lit dans les bois" by Yvonne, and "Un herbe parée" by Yvonne. The program will be a series of folk songs, spotlighting "Lord I Want to Be a Negro" by Yvonne, "The Little Girl" by Yvonne, "Simple Gift" by Aaron Copland, a song which the Stakes and Yvonne have been singing for years ago, "The Bony Earl of Moray" and an Irish folk song, "Merrily a Cruel December Day."

A section of the Robert Shaw choral group responds to the gesture of Maestro Shaw. The group will appear in the Knights symposium at 8 p.m. tomorrow as the fourth number in this year's Art Series program.

Choralists To Appear College Buys New Lot At Yule Party Tonight

Singing a group of brand-new numbers, the Choralists are the latest addition to the list of entertainment awaiting Wartburgers at the all-school Christmas party to be held today at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater.

Sponsored by the Junior class, the event is the initial all-school get-together of the year and the first of a series of Yuletide celebrations which will descend on the campus between now and Christmas recess.

Besides the Choralists, the party promises readings by Dr. G. J. Neumann, head of the division of languages and literature, and Dr. H. C. Engelbrecht, assistant to the president. This lot will be occupied by the Home Economics house, which is to be moved next spring.

Other entertainment includes a pantomime take-off on "The Night Before Christmas" serving of refreshments will conclude the fun-making.

Student legislators, along with Paul Schubert, president of the student body, were concerned with the all-volunteer of the game room in the basement of Wartburg hall. It was decided to obtain more checkboards and shuffles in an attempt to improve conditions.

Wenger's proposed amendment is concerned with the election of class presidents, and will be presented to the student body for vote as soon as possible. Members of the Intercollegiate Relations committee who recently attended the NSA conference at Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., submitted their report to the Senate.

Financial reports of the student projects revealed that the current campus project has accumulated $228, while the memorial fund totals $23.

Senate Discusses WH Social Room

Attracting the attention of Student Senate at its meeting on Monday evening, Dec. 3, was the present condition of the Wartburg hall social room.

Other items of business taken up included an amendment submitted by Senator W. J. Wenger, junior, the possibility of a popular concert on campus, the NSA conference report, and statements on the student project and memorial fund.

3,000 Expected To Hear Robert Shaw As Other Schools Send Large Groups

With an audience of some three thousand awaiting the concert, the Robert Shaw choral group will take the stage in the Knights gymnasium at 8 p.m. tomorrow as the fourth presentation in Wartburg's current Artist Series program.

For the first time since the Arthur Rubinstein appearance two years ago, the Knights gymnasium will be packed, although a complete sell-out will depend somewhat on the weather conditions. Large delegations are coming from other colleges all over the Hawkeye state. Luther college alone is sending 300 students for the event.

Composed of 32 picked voices, the choral group will be augmented by a concert orchestra of 19 instrumentalists. The concert will be made up of a varied program, ranging from Bach to the American musical theater.

Diction is the outstanding characteristic of Shaw's choral system. When his group performs every word is understandable. This feature is unusual in most choral works.

Although he is still in his early 30's, Shaw already has a brilliant record of past achievements in the musical world. After his

Public Relations, APG To Conduct Clinic Friday

Students from seven surrounding high schools will observe Wartburg publications in action next Friday, Dec. 15, as guests of the Wartburg college public relations office, assisted by Beta Delta chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma, national, coeducational journalism fraternity.

According to Norman Fintel, public relations director, the students are members of high school newspaper or annual staffs, and the purpose of the clinic is to acquaint them with Wartburg journalism and publications.

Beginning at 2 p.m., the program will include short talks by Fintel, Miss Margaret Wolf, in charge of Journalism here, Bob Greenwald, TRUMPET editor, Fred Hoberg, Postscript editor, and Chuck Kunk, president of the Wartburg chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma.

Visitors will also watch the proofreading and makeup process of the TRUMPET, at which time they may also present questions about their own publications. Included in the orientation is a trip through the editorial newsroom plan, where Ted Hanksen, shop foreman, will explain the production phase of publication.

After eating at the college cafeteria, visitors will attend the St. John's baseball game in the evening, all as guests of the college.

Wartburg students and faculty are invited to attend the inter-school Christmas party in the cafeteria tomorrow evening after the Robert Shaw concert. Guests at the mixer will be Luther and other visiting college students and faculty.

Students are welcome to the expense-free affair, but should not be late. The mixer will be served first by Robert Fintel, public relations director, in charge.

He added that those willing to help with the serving of coffee and doughnuts may volunteer.

graduation from Pomona college, he was director of the glee club on the Ford-Waiting school for seven years.

While connected with the Wartburg group, Shaw created a small chorus of his own which sang on numerous radio broadcasts in New York. The group grew into 140, culminated in the 1950-51 Collegiate chorale, giving frequent concerts in Carnegie hall, both independently and in connection with such prominent conductors as Sir Kovski and Toscanini.

With all of his other duties, Shaw still finds time to prepare musical scores for the San Francisco and New York, and for several Broadway stage shows. At present, Shaw is here as the choral department at Juilliard School of Music in New York, N.Y.

Candlelight Service To Unfold Dec. 19

Culminating Wartburg's pre-Christmas activity will be the annual Chi Rho candlelight service, to be held Wednesday, Dec. 19, 8 p.m. in the Knights gymnasium, according to Eva Wuebbers, junior and chairman of the affair.

"This year's program will follow the same general procedure as former years," commented Wuebbers. "Diverse decorations and special lighting will be used to increase the air of worship, which are like to be presented in these traditional services."

An inspirational program has been set to be directed by the lighting of the candles. Special music is in the presided by tenor Ben Sticker, and a racy chorus, organized by Lloyd Ziebart, senior.

Also included in the service will be the reading of the Christmas message, a responsive reading and a prayer. The service is one of the activities sponsored annually by the pre-theological society.

Krueger To Speak At Chi Rho Sunday

The Rev. Theodore Krueger, assistant to the director of stewardship and finance of the American Lutheran church, will address Wartburg pre-theologians tomorrow at the monthly meeting of Chi Rho, to be held at 1:30 p.m. in the Little Theater. Subject of the talk will be "Christian Stewardship."

Is Wartburg Too Expensive?

The idea seems to be prevalent among students on this campus that expenses are considerably higher at Wartburg than at state institutions. Many students frequently voice the opinion that the advantages in attending a small school are not sufficient to overbalance the added expense involved.

But is this complaint justified? Does it actually cost more to attend Wartburg than the large state school which is supported by the taxpayer? According to Clarence Lovejoy's "Guide to American Colleges and Universities," typical yearly expenses at Wartburg (room, board, tuition, books and fees) amount to $750.

Only 2 of Iowa's 30 educational colleges are lower. Iowa State Teachers college lists its typical assessment as $675, the state low. Yearly expenses at Iowa State are about the same as Wartburg, but the average cost in attending Iowa university is $900, considerably higher than at Wartburg.

Yearly expenses are the same at the University of Minnesota and Wisconsin university dish out $1,090 annually.

Among the small, liberal arts schools of Iowa, Wartburg is right at the bottom as far as expenses are concerned. The average cost at these colleges, most of which are church affiliated, is $900. The most expensive of Iowa schools are Upper Iowa, Morningside and Coe—$1,050, and Grinnell—$1,200.

The next time you're tempted to complain about that bill at the treasurer's office, look at the table below. Maybe you are getting your money's worth!

Say 'Yes,' Harry

From a viewpoint of diplomacy and prestige, Britain has taken several beatings in the near east. Her oil interests in Iran, monopolized by her for decades, have been wrested from her by the Iranian nationalists. Egypt wants the Sudan as well as control of the Suez canal.

Some observers have been surprised to see the Communist agitation in the near east in alliance with the nationalists and religious fanatics of the Moslem countries. But this is only the first step in the Russian plan. First the Moslems must be united. Then the Communists can take advantage of a frantic political situation to overthrow the nationalists.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of England has insisted that, if the Moslem nations are to be the European defense program is to be an American, the Moslem nations must be united. This would amount to the commitment of American foreign policy to the support of the British in the near east.

Should the United States comply? What should our whole foreign policy toward the British be?

Our foreign policy must be founded on basic facts—(1) The economic recovery of Britain is vital to our participation in the European defense program. (2) To recover, the British need economic assistance. (3) Our answer to the growth of nationalism in all formerly colonial countries must be to sign alliances, not to suppress.

In other words, Truman can't well afford to spend six hundred million dollars of taxpayers' money, if he spends it intelligently. When Churchill comes to see him in January, he should say, "Well, Winston, we'll give you six hundred million. But first you must agree to support the Suez Canal by agreeing to the following:

(1) European economic unity and political federation, with the industrialization of Germany, and (2) Adoption of an attitude of friendship, assistance and alliance toward the rising powers of Communist Asia and Africa. In short, you must be prepared to give up some of your economic advantages in your export areas in exchange for the economic advantages of European unity.

Truman has the bargaining power to do this. Will he?

IRANIAN BORN

Kathy Mueller Draws

FOR RELAXATION

By Regine Welsh

Born in Urmia, Iran, 20 years ago, Katherine Iran Mueller, junior, began drawing pictures as soon as she was old enough to grip a pencil. The Mueller family came to the United States and young Kathy continued to draw with evident relish.

Kathy was not a bit particular about where she would draw her pictures. After she had disfigured the wallpaper in the Mueller home, Kathy's mother made a wise decision. She supplied her artistic daughter with paper sacks for her illustrations.

Kathy Mueller, Artist

Kathy could correctly be classified as being a natural artist. She has never been tutored. Her father, who also enjoys drawing, recognized Kathy's gift and encouraged her to develop skill with the pencil.

Kathy Envis.

Young Kathy became the envy of her little playmates when she entered school. By this time she had acquired proficiency, and her pictures and posters adorned the bulletin board of the classroom. Upon entering high school, Kathy discovered new outlets for her creative energy. She sketched cartoons for her high school paper and served as art editor for the yearbook.

But drawing in school did not consume her energy. She devoted much of her spare time to drawing pictures of anything which emerged from her fertile imagination.

From The Wolf Pack

AS HE PULLED a card from Dean Oppermann out of his mailbox, a student was recently heard to remark, "Kathy, I've been getting more cards from 'Opie' than from home."

THOSE WELL-REHEarsed REMARKS from the Sen again proved themselves unshakable by appearing on Opie's Friday evening in spite of the impermanent fog.

TOO BAD the marvelous enthusiasm generated for the cage sport wasn't present when the Knight played football this fall. It might have made a difference.

MEN'S INTRAMURAL basketball is on a mass production basis this year, with over one hundred aspirants going at it on a swing shift schedule.

JIM LENGUADESO was in a dither Sunday. "Largo" was a victim of a quirk of fate which placed two girlfriends on campus simultaneously. Poor Jim! He decided there was no justice when the aforementioned females, both of them, departed at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. He spent a quiet evening playing cards.

ASIDE WITH SID

The other day I saw a poster urging us to contribute to some organization. From the bottom of my heart, I'm prompted Dr. Richard Lynch, noted authority on English literature, Bureau county history and comparative philology, to start a study. I've researched into the connection between the heart and contribution to organizations. After a long period of intensive study (five minutes, to be exact) we deduced that the only thing our hearts could contribute is blood. This would be a good situation in the case of a second party. But it would be rather difficult to place a pint of blood in a church plate.

Once we got started, the Dr. and I just couldn't tear ourselves away from this fascinating study. The next statement we investigated was "green with envy." Now, we have a second party. But the only way one could turn green would be to paint one's self so there.

I heard someone describe a fellow student as being "smart as a whip." Dick and I decided to test this one scientifically. For three hours we grinded a buggy wheel that was clearly years older than either of us, and that crazy who didn't know as much about bugs as I did. All the damn thing did was stand there and hang its head.

Here's another one: "You could have knocked me over with a feather." To test this one Dick pounded on me with feathers for most of an afternoon. He tried many feathers, turkey feathers and all kinds of feathers. At last he finally found one that did the job. I told him, can a two by four actually be called a house feather?

Tom Spinkston said the other day that "I was re-elected in the Winona game. He was sweating. I'll admit it. I was re-elected to the job that way I could just sit the program. It would run down the list of names and come to something like 'W. Campbell—39'; 'Buck—win mustard'.

Just as we were finishing our research, Dr. Lynch reminded me of a time one of my teachers called me down in class. "I was so embarrassed I could have died,"

"Why didn't you?" replied Dick. So I guess I will. Bye now.

Knights Sack Visiting Auggies, 57-49

By Dick Lynch

Wartburg's one-two scoring punch, Jack Bostrack and Bill Adix, Thursday night fired the Knight cagers to a 57-49 triumph over Augsburg in the Knights gymnasium.

Still smarting from the licking administered by Iowa Teachers the night before, Wartburg went right to work on the visiting Auggies and trailed only once through the entire game.

Bostrack and Adix boosted the Knights in front by 7-2 in the first three minutes. Then the Axmen hung on for a 13-10 margin at the end of the period.

Auggies Lead, 18-15.
Midway in the next quarter the visitors gained their only lead of the game as they connected on four straight field goals from far out, and took over 18-15.

In the closing minutes of the half Paul Olson banged in a pair of long one-handers, and Bob Adix added a short jump bucket as the winners took the lead for good. Augsburg was held scoreless for the last five minutes of the period for a 25-18 count.

Adix's nine points in the third stanza helped stave off an Augsburg comeback, but at the end of the visitors had closed the spread to five points, 43-38.

Bostrack Wins Three.
With 8:10 to go in the final period, the Auggies had narrowed Wartburg's advantage to 40-32. But here Bostrack saved the day, as he promptly responded with three quick buckets, and the Augsburg defense, then added a free shot and the Knights relaxed with a comfortable 47-39 lead.

Adix's left-handed hook with 14 seconds to go rounded out the scoring at 57-49.

Bostrack finished with 20 points on nine goals and two free throws, and Adix totaled 19 points with six extra buckets and three dirt shots to lead the winners' scoring.

As a team Wartburg averaged only 23 per cent from the floor, but was allowed 100 shots, and the 23 baskets against the losers' 19 furnished the deciding points. The win gives Wartburg a 2-2 record for the still young season.

TC Hits 50 Per Cent.
Sporting a fantastic 51 per cent shooting average, Iowa teachers smothered the Knights 70-56 at Cedar Falls Wednesday night. The Panthers fired in 33 baskets in 65 attempts as they marked up their first win of the season.

While Wartburg ended with a respectable 54 per cent average, many Knight shots were hurried or taken from unusually far away on the court. The only Knight able to hit with regularity was center Bill Adix, who dropped eight baskets in 12 tries through the net. Adix added 7 of 11 free shots for a 23-point total, top free shooter in the game.

Carried by Adix's 10 points, Wartburg stayed within striking distance in the second quarter and trailed 34-26 as the half ended. Going into the final quarter with a 53-35 deficit, Wartburg outscored the tutors 21-15 for the final 75-56 count.

Adix Leads Knights To 64-46 Triumph

By Rudy Kolberg

With big Bill Adix and eagle-eyed Jack Bostrack leading the way, the Knights won their first game of the hardwood season with an easy 64-46 win over a visiting Wona, Minn. Teachers crew last Saturday night in the Knights gym.

Center Adix found the hoop for 21 points, whereas main guard Bostrack sunk 10 counters. Best marksmen for the opponents was Knowles, a guard who hit 13 points.

Jumping into a 5-0 lead in the first two minutes, the Orange and Black was in the driver's seat all the way, holding a 17-10 first quarter advantage, and a 29-19 halftime margin.

Wona threw a scare into the Knights after intermission and narrowed the score to 29-23, but Wartburg came back strong to pile up a 42-23 third quarter score. The Knights were smoother as the game progressed and showed flashes of the fast-break that resumed last year's aggressive play.

"Best defense lineman in the conference."

The statement made at the Iowa conference coaches' post-season meeting pretty well sums up Norbert Woods, the choice for the November "Athlete of the Month" award.

Woods, a sophomore pre-engineering student, from Greeley, Colo., was one of the few bright points in an otherwise drab third season, as he consistently broke through the lines behind the line of scrimmage.

Woods' opposing lines to spill enemy linemen yards behind the line of scrimmage.

He has no peer as a defensive end and was feared and respected by every opponent. If he had played both offense and defense all season, he would undoubtedly have been picked all-conference," Coach Oppermann stated.

Starting his grid career at Greeley junior high school as a tackle, Norb quickly rose to prominence. In his junior year in high school, he was required for only a two-year course, and his future plans call for his transfer to an engineering school in Greeley upon completion of the current school year. Knight coaches would like to have him change his plans.

Wartburg's grapplers opened their 1952 season in the AAU tournament at ISTC in Cedar Falls this morning. Coach Norman Johansen has entered 10 wrestlers in the open division.

Knight grapplers will find competition keen, as two Bad Ten schools, Illinois and Minnesota, have entered the open class, along with other large colleges.

Representatives have been entered by Wartburg in all weight divisions except the 101-pound class. Matmen wrestling today are as follows:

Tri-Beta To Revive College Museum

Tri-Beta, campus biology fraternity, at its meeting last week in the general science room, decided as a club project to renovate completely Wartburg's museum, which has been stored in Old Main for the past few years. "All the old relics and antiques will be dusted off and put in order, and new articles of interest added," stated club proxy Lester Becker.

Also on the docket as projects are donations of blood to the Red Cross, and moving the biology laboratory to the space vacated by the physics department when it moves into the new wing sometime this winter.

To conclude the meeting, a talk on "The Theory of Chemicals" was given by Orval Hilde, senior.

Other staff members, under the leadership of temporary Editor Incalculable Lutz, have banded to gether in the common cause of issuing this week's newspaper.

Greenmills will be reinstated in the driver's seat next week. The parchment hope he will take this lesson to heart.

Trumpet Retracts

The TRUMPET apologizes for three classification errors appearing in last week's issue. Marilyn McBride, listed as a freshman, is a junior; Frances from Oremka university, listed as a senior, who transferred from 1950, and Charlotte Graham is not a freshman but a sophomore.
